Make good use of the time and start preparing your proposal now!

If you could not make it to one of our Horizon 2020 Space Information Days 2015, you can still use the online partner search database to find potential project partners. In a few days the registration will open again. When you register you have the chance to create cooperation profiles and to select your areas of interest and indicate your preferred call topics from the Space work programme 2016/2017.

This makes the partner search database a powerful networking tool!
